

Sample Voicemail from Company Executive to their Employees

If you want to customize your message and include additional information, you can visit Ventegra's Respiratory Illness Resource Center. Your members may use the link as well.

MESSAGE:

Greetings, Team!

As you know, cold and flu season is now underway. Your health and safety are our top priority, so I'm reaching out today with an important reminder to stay up to date on your immunizations.

Every year, respiratory diseases such as flu, COVID-19, and RSV cause hundreds of thousands of hospitalizations and thousands of deaths in the United States. Thankfully we now have more tools than ever to protect you, your loved ones, and your colleagues.

Flu, COVID, and RSV vaccinations are available to you through your pharmacy benefit at NO COST to you, so please check with local pharmacies as soon as possible to get vaccinations scheduled for you and all eligible loved ones. Together, with your help, we will get through this pandemic and be stronger as a result.

For more information, please visit our intranet.

Stay safe. Be well.